

I bought my wife a mood ring for Christmas.
It works! When she's happy, it turns green.
When she's angry... it leaves a big red mark on my forehead.

I've tried to start a hide-and-seek club...
but good players are so hard to find.

In a freak accident today, a photographer
was killed when a giant slab of cheddar hit him. To be fair, the people he was photographing did try to warn him.

I phoned a restaurant and asked for a table for two. The lady who answered said I had the wrong number.
So I asked for a table for four instead.

I told the gym instructor I wanted to do the splits. He asked how flexible I was.

I said, "I can't do Tuesdays."

I asked my wife if I was the only one she'd been with.

She said yes — all the others were nines and tens.

I once stayed a night in the YMCA.
It was OK, but I wouldn't make a song and dance
about it.

I tried some old Viagra but they didn't work.
They were well past
their swell-by date.

The man who invented gravy granules has had the freedom of the city bestowed upon him.

The extreme sports clubs is a great way
to meet new people.
Today, I met two paramedics,
three nurses, and a chiropractor.

I got home last night to find someone had stolen all the carpets and mats.
Police think it was the work of rug addicts.

At medical school anatomy class, I hid
the arm of a skeleton as a joke.
No-one found that humerus.

I said to my hairdresser: "Make me
look sexy."
She started drinking.

I told my wife she was drawing her eyebrows too high.
She looked surprised.
